Radio sets for the armed forces. One source saw about 500 portable radio sets being packed and carried boxes with valves of Telefunken, Valvo and Philipps type, portable radio sets and rod antennas.

2. Radio sets somewhat larger than the German people's radio sets (Volksempfänger), small mobile field sets, and commercial sets also were manufactured in the plant.

Comment:

Report supplements previous information by furnishing some data on the production of the plant.

25X1X

The report makes it probable that army radio sets were mostly produced in the plant at the time of observation. The reported presence of officers of all branches of service* verifies the importance of the plant.
